President Sanborn Will Deliver Address to Graduates.

The Honorable Jeremiah W. Sanborn, first president of the Utah Agricultural College, will deliver the address to the graduates of the college on Saturday, June 5, at the thirty-third annual commencement.

President Sanborn came to the U. A. C. in November 1889, as director of the newly established experiment station. He became president of the faculty May 17, 1890. Upon his shoulders fell the responsibility of organizing the work of the station and the courses of study and faculty of the college. It is notable that plans laid down in outline by President Sanborn for the development of the college, even to plans for campus improvement, have been found so fundamentally correct, that they have been followed consistently by succeeding presidents of the Institution.

At present, Mr. Sanborn is operating his ancestral estate in New Hampshire, founded there nearly two hundred years ago in 1727.

Special arrangements for the entertainment of Mr. Sanborn during his stay in Utah are under the direction of the U. A. C. Alumni Association. It is planned to hold a reunion of all students of the College who were in attendance during his presidency. Mr. Sanborn will also be guest of honor at the Annual Alumni Banquet and Ball, scheduled for Saturday evening, June 5.

The program for commencement as now outlined is as follows: Friday, June 4, spring quarter ends. The annual business meeting and social of the alumni association will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the college library. Saturday, June 5, address to the graduates, 10 A. M. by the Honorable J. W. Sanborn, President's reception to Alumni, Graduates and the Board of Trustees, 3 to 5 P. M. Alumni Banquet and Ball, 6:30 P. M., Hotel Eccles; Sunday, June 6, Baccalaureate Sermon, 11 A. M. by the Honorable Nephi L. Morris.

Alumnus Commends National Summer School.

The Utah Agricultural College National Summer School is the greatest idea for state development that has ever come into Utah in the opinion of Lon J. Haddock formerly of Logan now of Beverly Hills, California. Mr. Haddock, who graduated from the U. A. C. in 1913, is president of the Lon J. Haddock Fig Company, the largest such organization in the world. It controls 1500 acres of developed fig lands at Fresno. He is a member of the Writers' Club of Beverly Hills and of the Casa Del Mar Club at House-by-the-Sea.

At a special luncheon held in his honor at the College during his visit Mr. Haddock paid a signal tribute to the National Summer school. In part he said:

"There is not another effort that Utah can make that will do as much to bring into the state money and people to develop its latent resources as the Utah Agricultural College National Summer School. There is not a more glorious place in the entire country in which such a summer school can be held than Cache Valley. When the enormous significance to Utah of the National Summer School is known there will be a state-wide movement back of it which will make it what it deserves to be—one of the most outstanding educational efforts in the entire world. It is the duty of the people of Logan and Northern Utah who are close enough to the summer school to understand something of its possibilities to get behind the movement and to put it in a popular light before the people of the state. Only by united effort can this be done."

In connection with the summer school Mr. Haddock declared that an annual celebration similar to the Centennial celebration of two years' ago should be held in Cache Valley. It suggested that this be called The Rendezvous because Cache Valley was a rendezvous for the trappers in early days. This celebration could illustrate in pageant form the building of the state from the coming of the early Spanish fathers through the trapping and exploration periods down through the period of settlement to the present day. Its appeal to the people of the United States would, in the opinion of Mr. Haddock, be much greater than the Mardi Gras of New Orleans, the Rose Festival of Pasadena or the Mission play of Southern California.

About thirty citizens of Logan attended the luncheon. Following the luncheon, Mr. Haddock spoke at special student body exercises held in his honor. In the course of his remarks he spoke in glowing terms of the influence of the Utah Agricultural College upon its students and declared that the institution has turned out a larger proportion of leaders during its history than any other educational institution in the United States. In referring to the large number of men who have gone from its halls to assume places of responsibility Mr. Haddock named, among others, Wm. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, Warren G. Swendsen, commissioner of Reclamation of Idaho, James T. Jardine, director of the Oregon Experiment Station. F. D. Farrell, president of the Kansas Agricultural College, C. N. Jenson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction for Utah, A. E. Bowman, director of Extension for Wyoming, E. B. Brossard, member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, M. O. Maughan, secretary of the National Dairy Council, Russell L. Maughan, first lieutenant in the Aviation service and Frank T. Hines, brigadier general of the U. S. Army.

Sigma Chi Is Installed On Campus.

Sigma Chi has come onto the campus of the Utah Agricultural College and Sigma Alpha, one of the oldest local fraternities in the United States, has become the Gamma Kappa chapter of one of the oldest national fraternities in the country.

The installation ceremonies took place May 7 and 8. Representatives from thirteen active and alumni chapters of Sigma Chi were in attendance, including chapters at Stanford, University of California, Idaho University, Colorado College, Columbia and the University of Utah, which was represented by its entire active chapter and its pledges.

Sigma Chi's of special note who were in attendance included Grand Consul John C. McClain of Salt Lake City, installing officer, Grand Consul Frank L. Grant of Denver, M. Elliot Houston, also of Denver, praeter of the 13th Province, Clyde Woolley, of Denver, in charge of the ritual, Hamilton Gardner, Milton H. Love, Pat King, and Harley Gustin from the Salt Lake Alumni Chapter and Roscoe Miller, president of the active chapter at the University of Utah.

Most of Friday was spent in getting ready for the installation ceremonies which began Friday evening and continued for part of Saturday morning. From eleven o'clock until noon on Saturday, the visiting Sigma Chi's and the members of Sigma Alpha inspected the College campus. Following luncheon at the Hotel Eccles at noon, the ritual ceremonies were held at the Elk's Lodge on East Center.

The installation was ended with a banquet held Saturday evening at The Bluebird at which one hundred eighty seven were present. Hamilton Gardner, formerly a member of the Board of Trustees at the College, was toastmaster at the installation banquet. Toasts were responded to by Mr. Lewis of the Salt Lake Alumni Chapter, Roscoe Miller, president of the U. of Utah active chapter, D. E. Robinson, Frank Gimlin, president of the U. A. C. active chapter, and President Elmer G. Peterson.

Special guests at the banquet included Trustee F. P. Champ, President Peterson, Dean F. L. West, and Anthon H. Lunt, president of the U. A. C. chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha.

This issue of the Alumni Quarterly is being sent to the entire association, as far as we have addresses of the members. Although the policy of the association is to send the quarterly only to those members who have paid their dues, it was felt wise to send the last number of Volume II to all so that all might know of the visit to the Campus this coming commencement of former president J. W. Sanborn. Therefore, if you haven't paid your dues and yet have received the quarterly you know the reason why. Of course, it is not too late to pay your dues for 1925-26.

PRESIDENT SANBORN TO BE OUR GUEST

Just as our 1925 commencement was significant in that Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, a graduate of '04, was our guest of honor and delivered the address to the graduates, so our 1926 commencement will be significant because the Honorable J. W. Sanborn, first president of the College, will be our honored guest and will give the annual address to the graduating class.

It is hoped that as many graduates of the college as can, will take advantage of President Sanborn's visit to renew acquaintance with the Institution. It is especially hoped that all who knew President Sanborn while he was chief administrative officer will come to greet him again and live over the days of the early 90's.

A committee consisting of John T. Caine, '94, John Bankhead, '97, T. H. Humphreys, '97, and J. C. Hogenson, '99, is arranging a special program in honor of President Sanborn.

ATTEND THE ANNUAL ALUMNI MEETING.

The annual alumni business meeting and social—scheduled for 8 P. M., Friday, June 4 in the College Library—is your Meeting. Officers of the association can arrange a program for you. They can prepare reports of association activities. But unless you are interested enough to attend, the meeting cannot be a success and all of their work is useless.

Service given the Alumni Association by the officers is entirely a labor of love. Surely we members should appreciate that service enough to attend the most important session of our association—the annual business meeting.

YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF.

The third session of the National Summer School opens on the campus on June 14. This great educational endeavor affords a remarkable opportunity for alumni to return to their Alma Mater for a few weeks of inspiration and recreation.

It is entirely worthwhile to break away from routine work for a brief period now and then, especially if, by so doing, you can come in contact with men and women of such note and ability as compose the National Summer School faculty. Study and association with such outstanding characters as Lewis M. Terman, professor of psychology of Stanford; E. V. McCollum; professor of bio-chemistry of Johns Hopkins; A. C. McLaughlin, professor of history of Chicago University; E. A. Ross, professor of sociology, of Wisconsin; R. A. Millikan, director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics, of Pasadena, Shailer Mathews, dean of the Divinity School of Chicago University, Mary Wood Hinman, director of the Hinman School of Dancing and Pageantry of Chicago, Lois Mossman, authority in the training of children, Teachers College, Columbia—to name only a few—is of untold value to all of us.

Not only have you a chance to take advantage of the wonderful opportunity yourself, but you are doubtless in a position to urge others to do likewise. Whenever the chance presents itself, we suggest that you set forth the virtues of the National Summer School at the U. A. C.

WHAT IS A COLLEGE EDUCATION WORTH?

Every day spent in college pays the young man or woman $55.54. Proof: Illiterate laborers earn an average of $500 per year; in forty years they would earn $20,000; high school graduates earn an average of $1,000 per year; in forty years they would earn $40,000; college graduates earn an average of $2,000 per year; in forty years they would earn $80,000.

To get the high school education required twelve years of school, or 2,160 days in school. This time spent in school added to the income of the high school graduate $20,000. Divide $20,000 by 2,160 and we have $9.26 as the amount that every day spent in the grammar and high school was worth to the high school graduate.

But look a little further.

While the average amount earned by the high school graduate in an active life of forty years is $40,000, the amount earned in the same time by the college graduate is $80,000. He therefore, adds $40,000 to his life's income by reason of the four years, or 720 days, that he spent in college, the college year being 180 days. Now, if we will divide $40,000 by 720, we will have $55.55, the amount that every day in college is worth to a man or woman.

In view of the above, is there any single thing you can do for your young friends that will be more valuable to them than to persuade them to go on to College? If your Alma Mater offers them the work they need, of course you will urge them to attend her. But at all events you will do your best to keep them in college.

An important announcement regarding the proposed Alumni drive for $50,000 for the U. A. C. library will be made at the annual business meeting. It is very important that you be present.
